

VERONICA CINTRON

Vice President of Communications
Tampa International Airport

Veronica Cintron is the Vice President of Communications at Tampa International Airport. Prior to joining TPA in April, she anchored Spectrum Bay News 9's weekday evening newscasts for 10 years. The University of South Florida alum has traveled extensively to cover major domestic and international stories ranging from the inauguration of President Barack Obama and Pope Francis' first ever visit to Cuba in 2015 to the 100th anniversary of the Panama Canal and the aftermath of Hurricane Maria days after it made landfall in Puerto Rico.

Cintron's work has earned her six regional Emmy awards, multiple Florida Association of Broadcast Journalists awards and Society of Professional Journalists' Sunshine State awards. She has also been honored with the Tampa Hispanic Heritage Leadership award in media and Watermark's Favorite News Anchor WAVE award.

Cintron volunteers her time to impactful causes and organizations throughout the year. She sits on the Alzheimer's Association 2020 gala committee, and is a proud member of the USF Alumni Association, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and the National Association of Hispanic Journalists. She lives with her husband and 5-year-old daughter in Tampa.
